Abstract:

Good manners are of great importance in human life. They help man to reach zenith in every aspect of life. They play important role in life. Every man should know the aims and needs of life. Good manners and character strengthen faith and its secret lies in piety. They give satisfaction and dignity to the good Muslims. When a person abide by the principles of Islam. They have a positive impact on all his life. Islam has taught us good habits (i.e.) forgiveness, sympathy and tolerance. They are as important for international peace as for personal good. From the life of the Holy Prophet (SAW), one can learn that his teachings of sympathy, mutual co-operation, counseling, help and tolerance are for all human beings not only for the Muslims. Everyone can make his life useful or sweet by acting upon these teachings.
